

Conditional bar-chart example: percentage difference by sample

This bar version is a conditional alternative because the percentage difference has a meaningful zero and the message is magnitude from zero. Prefer point-range or dot plots when uncertainty, distribution, or precise comparisons are the main message.